E-Safety Parent Workshops

I am pleased to advise you that we have arranged for two free parent workshops on E-safety on Monday 22nd September. Keeping children safe when they are using computers and other digital equipment such as mobile phones and tablets is an increasingly complex issue. It is a key priority for us this year to do all we can to support our parent community to have access to up to date relevant advice on E-safety. These parent workshops are an initial part of our plan to provide you with easy to understand advice and support with E-safety.

Whether you're puzzled by parental controls on the internet or would like to know more about the risks your children may face when they use their mobile phones or social networking sites, the workshops can help. We all know that it can sometimes be challenging to keep up to speed with what children and young people are doing online. If you attend one of the workshops next week, you will be offered lots of useful ways to help keep your child safe.

The E-safety workshops will be led by a qualified ICT consultant, Mr John Jeffries. The first workshop will run from 10am to 11am and the second workshop will run from 2pm to 3pm.

Please also find attached a leaflet which provides some information regarding E-safety and which will give you an indication of the content of the workshops.

Refreshments will be provided and I really hope that as many of you as possible are able to take advantage of the free E-safety workshops on offer.

In order for us to be able to plan for the event, please complete the slip below to indicate if you will be joining us for the E-safety workshops and return it to your child's class teacher as soon as possible.

The E-Safety workshops are not suitable for pre-school children. However, I do hope that you are able to make arrangements to enable you to attend one of these valuable opportunities to find out about how to keep your children safe on-line and when they are using all forms of technology away from school.

We all look forward to welcoming you in school next week.

Kind regards
